As Australia's leading specialist training centre devoted to foods, tourism and hospitality careers, William Angliss Institute is hosting a Speed Mentoring evening to celebrate and nurture passion in the industry. As part of National Career Development Week, the Speed Mentoring event will take place on Monday, 17 May from 6pm to 8:30 pm in the Angliss Restaurant, located on campus at 550 Little Lonsdale Street, Melbourne. This event has been recognised as a National Career Development Week 2010 Lead Event.

"National Career Development Week is great for highlighting all the opportunities and diverse career paths available to our students after completing their courses, whether in the field of tourism, hospitality or professional cookery," says Deana Ristevska, Careers Advisor at William Angliss Institute.

"Students past and present found last years event so beneficial and made invaluable industry contacts, so we are pleased to be providing this opportunity to students and alumni again in 2010," continued Ristevska.

An opportunity for students to engage with leaders in the industry, Speed Mentoring inspires student passion through a chance to chat with experts such as Edna Cunningham, General Manager at Gordon Ramsay's new restaurant, Maze, Katherine Williamson, Venue Manager at Quat Quatta Receptions, Anne Parkes, Sales Manager - The Terrace and Panorama Restaurants, Victoria Racing Club, and Maria Marques, Tourism Operations Coordinator at Melbourne Visitor Centre, Anthony LoGiusto Regional General Manager, Mantra Group, Georgina Forwood, Delaware North to name a few.

Run on the basis of a speed dating event, speed mentoring sees students move in small groups between industry representatives to get in-depth insight, career advice and key contacts for the future.

Industry representatives such as Edna Cunningham will be available for photographs with students in the Angliss Restaurant between 6 and 8:30pm.

William Angliss Institute's Speed Mentoring evening in Melbourne is a National Career Development Week (NCDW) registered event. NCDW is an initiative of the Career Industry Council of Australia (CICA) and supported by the Federal Government Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR).
