A coup for our Kiama Chamber

THE Kiama and District Chamber of Commerce (KDCC) last week took part in a business workshop which will be adopted by chambers of commerce nationwide.

Planned to coincide with National Career Development Week (NCDW), the Live It, Love It, Earn It! Business Development Workshop was designed to help business people work on their businesses potential and their own skills.

Campaign manager for National Career Development Week, Kiama businesswoman, Caroline Jones said the event being hosted at the Sebel, Kiama was a coup for the area.

Now in its fifth year, the results of the NCDW Campaign in communities, schools, TAFE, university, industry, government departments, and a wide range of other organisations, prove that getting the life you love takes more than just luck – it means actively managing your life, always learning, and being ready for change,” she said.

New chamber member Kristy Davis of Designer Leadlight said she got a great deal from the workshop.

“A great way to get to know other members and to “network” in a relaxed and fun atmosphere, whilst providing a unique opportunity to give some thought to your goals for your business,” she said.
